

LUNCH AT DRUSILLA'S INN, 26 APRIL

36 members and guests gathered for lunch at 12.15. There is an unobstructed view from the Inn to Horton Tower, claimed to be the tallest folly in England, now rented by mobile phone companies for their transmissions. Photographs kindly provided by Maurice.

“Now Robin, are you sure the beer’s ok?”

“Yes David, and I only had to try four pints”

“If only I could read my own writing!”

“The beer may be good, but this water looks dodgy”

“You mean this is not for the whole table?”

“What do you think of my invisible selfie stick?”

And a good time was had by all (we hope).
